LTG Jack C. Stultz, USAR
Office of the Chief, Army Reserve
Headquarters Department of the Army
2400 Army Pentagon
Washington, DC 20310-2400

Dear LTG Stultz,

As you know, reintegration during post deployment is a critical time for our soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen. I applaud the efforts of the Army Reserves, the Department of Defense, and the Veterans Administration to provide our military members with information on health care, education, and financial and legal benefits. Additionally, I would encourage the Army Reserve to utilize all best practices available for dealing with Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD). We must advance both the science and understanding of PTSD and ensure our military members have the best mental health care available. We must also encourage military members to seek counseling and to utilize all available assets at their disposal.

I recently saw the film by Jake Rademacher, Brothers at War, and I was pleased to learn of the many techniques and tools currently available for those returning from combat. I am happy to provide you with a copy the film and any other information you or your staff might desire. Again, I thank you for your efforts and I know you will continue your diligent efforts to support our warfighters during their reintegration period.

Sincerely,

John McCain
United States Senator
